WHY DO YOU COLLECT COINS?

Answered by Q. David Bowers of Bowers and Merena Inc.

"Collecting, or the accumulation of anything, tends to satisfy a need. Many desires motivate collecting, and the collector may be unaware of the real reason. Among the motivations for coin collecting may be the need for relaxation; the drive for knowledge, the want to have something no one else has, or the symbolic craving for collecting metallic disk that represent purchasing power."

"A hobby is a pleasure in which one takes an absorbing interest because it fascinates and shuts out immediate problems...A coin may tell you the state that issued it, the territories of the state, the succession of rulers, the pretensions of the rulers, the battles, the sieges, the victories, the economic pattern, the artistic style, and the religion. History is traced on coins as well as geography. Illustrations are drawn from mythology, geography, religion, government, customs, philosophy, art, history, as the cavalcade of time passes. History's pageant parades through our imagination and the process pushes the past closer and makes it clearer."

"Not only is it an intellectual pursuit, but also coin collecting trains us in the habit of close observation to detect detail. It develops accuracy and description and demands methodical arrangement. It offers the profit of economic gain because it is an excellent investment."

"Divest coin collecting of all other considerations and it offers a relief for those physically or mentally tired. Coin collecting is a sanctuary safe from stress and strain of a distraught world. To locate and to obtain a wanted coin to complete a collection represents a challenge with the ensuing satisfaction of fulfillment. How each coin was acquired sews a sentimental attachment to the collection. The confirmed collector soon seeks absolute perfection in his coin collection."

"In coin collecting you meet people who have the same hobby and thus you develop new friendships. Coin collecting is a hobby that the family can share and is an antidote to discipline and routine. It is planned relaxation and provides an interest in life often where none existed."

"A warning: collecting can become a passion. If the beginner collector chooses his area wisely, finds a field that will amaze, interest, and intrigue him, and knows the pleasure of becoming absorbed in his pursuit well, his life will be dramatically changed. He'll become a person in demand for his expertise. That, of course, is one of the pleasurable benefits. A benefit, too, that can lead to sometimes as much profit as his collecting activities themselves."

30TH ANNIVERSARY PROOF SET HOLDERS

The Wahoo club celebrated it's 30th anniversary in 1991. To mark the event there were two Capital Plastic holders offered to club members. There also was a choice of white or black colored insert. One holder was for a single proof set, and the other was a dual set holder for a 1961 and 1991 proof sets. Due to an error by Capital Plastics there were two inserts made for the single set holder. The wrong year (1961) was printed on the insert. Another insert, this time with the correct year (1991) was provided to club members at no cost. The cost of the holders to the club was $3.72 each for the single set holder; $4.00 to members. Dual set holders cost $7.72 each; $8.00 to club members. The difference in price was used to pay for E.C.'s holder and cover shipping costs.

Total holders made:

20 single set holders with white insert.

10 single set holders with black insert.

8 dual set holders with white insert.

4 dual set holders with black insert.

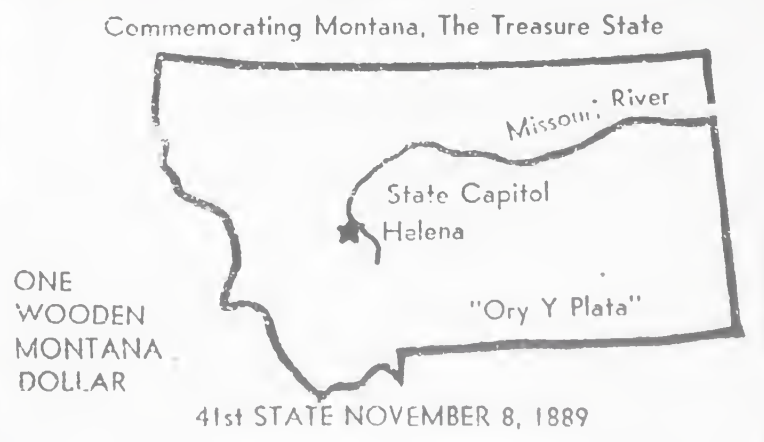

1 dual set holder with special inscription for E.C.Brodd.

(A special thanks-30 years as treasurer)
